

Upstate NY Applications, Enrollment by Year

The bar chart and table shows Upstate New York applicants, enrollments, and those who enrolled and graduated at SUNY College of Optometry from 2011 to 2025. Applications (blue) start high (around 29–39), then gradually decline to the low 20s and dip to 15 in 2021 before slightly recovering. Enrollments (red) remain much lower, typically between 8 and 16 in earlier years, then drop to very low levels (2–5) after 2020. The number who enrolled and graduated from upstate (green) stays relatively steady in the mid-teens through about 2021, then declines to single digits in recent years. Overall, applications and enrollments trend downward over time, with a more noticeable drop in recent years, while graduates remain steadier before also declining.
